56. Do we want to continue to investigate a new mainsail design, with a target to have a similar sailor weight range, fitting the existing rig with a more modern appearance? There will be no obligation on the class to adopt the prototype design; which will be tested by a range of sailors from within the class. The full cost will be carried by Ovington Boats. The possible adoption of the sail would be subject to a future member vote via an on-line survey if the testing proved successful.
